

Score: 100/100 Points 100 %

PRE-TEST

Answer the following Pre-Test questions.

1.

Award: 4 out of 4.00 points

 You received credit for this question in a previous attempt

Electoral politics have been affected by technological advances as technology

- ✓ provides voters with instant access to information and helps organize supporters.
- has decreased how voters can communicate with candidates.
- has made it harder for campaigns and elections to target and communicate with voters.
- encourages older people to vote in greater numbers.

Technology expands voters' access to candidate information and allows campaigns to easily organize supporters using social media and texting. And state governments rely on computers to conduct elections.

References

Multiple Choice

Learning Objective:
Define government and politics.

2.

Award: 4 out of 4.00 points

 You received credit for this question in a previous attempt

What type of government is the American democracy?

- authoritarian
- monarchy
- totalitarian
- ✓ constitutional

The Constitutional framers structured the American government as a constitutional democracy. In this type of government, a constitution creates a representative democracy in which the rights of the people are protected.

References

Multiple Choice

Learning Objective:
Compare and contrast
the various types of government.

3.

Award: 4 out of 4.00 points

 You received credit for this question in a previous attempt

A monarchy is a government ruled by

- the people.
- a dictator.
- a small group of people.
- ✓ a king or queen.

A monarchy is a government ruled by a king or queen.

References

Multiple Choice

Learning Objective:
Compare and contrast
the various types of
government.

4.

Award: 4 out of 4.00 points

 You received credit for this question in a previous attempt

Which of the following is not a value central to the political culture of the United States?

- individualism
- ✓ economic equality
- liberty
- consent of the governed

Economic equality is not a value central to the political culture of the United States.

References

Multiple Choice Learning Objective:
Identify the core values underlying American political culture.

5.

Award: 4 out of 4.00 points

 You received credit for this question in a previous attempt

What demographic change is increasing the burden on the nations' Social Security and government-supported health care system?

- an increasing population
- the decline of the nuclear family
- rapid urbanization
- ✓ an aging population

An aging population places an increased burden on the Social Security and government-supported health care system.

References

Multiple Choice Learning Objective:
Evaluate the significance
of demographic changes
in the United States.