

- * Natural differences are often social differences
- Anthropologists argue that all humans share common origins
 - we're all cousins of each other
- Europeans realized people of different places of the world had different traits
- Racial classifications became very elaborate
 - categories ignore overlap
 - race important because of slavery
 - we made race important
 - people didn't want to work in hot places so they took people from africa to do the work
 - slaves were property
 - race had to be important to justify slavery
 - children who were born into slavery were slaves
 - being freed didn't lead to that much change
 - white used terror - kkk
 - also justified by race
- blacks began fleeing the south
- black institutions
 - never going to fit in as americans
 - social services established
 - white people ad social services to help them
- Eugenics
 - good qualities are inherited

Hispanics is not a race