Software Engineering Programs Are Not Computer Science Programs

By David Lorge Parnas

Presented by

Software Engineering

- Software Engineering courses have become a source of contention in many universities.
- Computer Science departments have resisted the thought of Software Engineering being a facet of Engineering.
- In this presentation I will discuss the authors beliefs of a separation of the two departments.
- I will also compare and contrast the two departments.
- Then finally I will present some of my own beliefs on the topic Software Engineering are not Computer Science Programs.
