Course Description

What is an intellectual? What is the role that intellectuals play in society? What are the sources and nature of their prestige and power? What are their connections to existing or potential configurations of class, gender, race, and national identity? This course attempts to explore these issues by looking at Latin American intellectuals during the twentieth century. Although their ideas will be thoroughly discussed, our main focus will be the analysis of the roles of intellectuals in public debates and their function as depositaries of cultural and political capital, forgers of national and other forms of identity, and mediators between civil society and the state. This course is an attempt to understand the multifaceted and conflictive relationship between Latin American intellectuals and the communities they live in and think about.
